EDITORIAL

The month of July saw many CASK activities. We distributed Footwear at two schools – St Rafael Higher Primary School at Badyar(214 children) and St Anthony's Higher Primary School at Gardady(206 children), both Parish Schools in Belthangadi Taluk. It was heartwarming to see the thousand laughing suns in their eyes and smiles on the faces of the children, many of whom so far, came barefoot to school. Indeed the soul is healed by being with children and doing for them. CASK has also installed Purified Drinking Water Facility in the 2 schools and at St Anne's School-Kinnigoly.

On 17th July, the Inauguration of the Personality Development Programme in the Kannada Medium Pompei School run by the Urwa Parish took place. We are grateful to our Governing Council member–Lydia D'Cunha and Past President Lena Fernandes for preparing a 10-session schedule. Lydia has accepted to be the coordinator of this programme in the Kannada medium schools. We are grateful to an anonymous donor for contributing Rs.25,000/- specifically for the Personality Development Programme in Kannada Medium schools.

We continue to run the Personality Development Programme or Soft Skills in English Medium Schools, with a very committed team in 6 schools and 2 colleges this year. Many of our members have realised the value of this Self development and Assessment and have richly contributed to the smooth functioning of this CASK project for the past 4 years. We are grateful to all of them. Indeed Person Development or Soft Skills - developing a pleasing personality/behaviour, building Emotional Intelligence and Leadership qualities is the need of the hour. Lift yourself by yourself. . .is an Awakening not only for students but each and every one of us Adults. "The greatest impediment to success be it professional or personal is the lack of soft skills". Are we fostering good Communication in everything we do? or are we making more enemies than we need?

Erich Fromm has said “Our main task in life is to give birth to ourselves, to become what he/she potentially is. The most important product of our effort is our own personality”. Making a start now paves the way for a happier tomorrow. In view of constraints of space in this issue which carries the CASK Annual Report and the Audited Statement of Accounts, the next issue of ‘Mangalore’ will carry an article on Emotional Quotient, so valuable in life. We invite readers to share their views on this subject and send us your inputs to caskmangalore@yahoo.com or derpatlobo@hotmail.com.

Avis Deans enlightens us on the successful Community College model in Bangalore and Veronica Shearer has written a thought provoking article titled “What price Freedom?”

The CASK office has been unusually busy last few weeks because of the deluge of subscription renewals for the ‘Mangalore’ magazine. We thank those who promptly responded to our appeal to renew their subscription and request others to do so and help us to move on and keep our magazine going.

This issue will reach you just in time to remind you about the CASK programme on 14th August 2015 at St Agnes College. Please join us!

Until next time.....Patsy Lobo

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Mixed Blessings and Rays of Hope!

"My 'Swaraj' is to keep intact the genius of our civilisation. I want to write many new things but they must all be written on the Indian Slate. I would gladly borrow from the West when I can return the amount with decent interest". - Mahatma Gandhi.

Happy Independence Day on the 15th of August. We can proudly state that Swaraj (self rule or independence) has been our birth-right for the last sixty-eight years. We have our own civilisation to be proud of, besides our heritage. The new things that have been written on the Indian Slate, which has weathered wars, the Emergency era and the progressive economic development of India's awakening to make her tryst with destiny on its unending journey, to become one of the world's most influential nations, helps us to keep us going. We borrowed the democratic system of governance from the West, which has held the country in good stead so far but what is the amount of decent interest that can be repaid when one sees the ongoing monsoon session in our Parliament? I leave it to you to contemplate and evaluate! I have hope and confidence that we shall overcome. You may ask me, why?.

'India 2020 - a Vision for the New Millennium' by APJ Abdul Kalam with YS Rajan, published in 1998, is dedicated to a ten-year-old girl whose ambition was to live in a developed India. The people's president was respected and admired by all and the loss of a great teacher can never be replaced.

In October 2008 I had an opportunity to visit Dr APJ Kalam in New Delhi, who had just laid down office as President of India, to invite him for the opening of the cancer treatment unit in Fr Muller Hospital. Dr Kalam did visit Mangalore and as per usual custom and courtesy, I had gone to see off the former President at the Old Bajpe Airport. Offering the farewell bouquet to Dr Kalam, I was requested to give company to our honoured guest by his staff, who I had the pleasure to meet in New Delhi, as the flight was late. The next one hour that followed was one of the memorable moments of my life in terms of experiencing humility, knowledge gained and diplomacy. It was a one to one session with just two of us in the VIP lounge exchanging notes on various subjects. The rapport Dr Kalam enjoyed with his personal staff and his concern in taking care of their wellbeing was touching. Dr Kalam had a very good knowledge of Mangalore, its history, people and its industrial potential. I had to answer personal questions, professional matters followed next and my opinion on how Indian shipping fared at the international level was well taken. The diplomacy par excellence was personified, when I asked him boldly on the silence that he was maintaining on the Nuclear Pressler Amendment 123 when the issue was rocking the nation then. The answer was short and sweet, 'I will, when it is needed', with that famous smile.

Dr Kalam never spoke on the evils of corruption but fought corruption by walking the talk igniting and awakening the youth, inculcating dreams and visions. Finally, let me add that Dr Kalam wrote many new things on the Modern Indian Slate in every public office that he held, to make all Indians proud. May Dr Kalam's soul rest in peace.

I am happy to inform that Fr Muller Charitable Foundation (FMCf) in the US has informed CASK that they will continue to support the Eye Care Project for the following year too. CASK is grateful to Drs Vinaya and Sameer Kapoor for their generous contribution of USD 10,000 for the third successive year and M/s Atlantic Sub Sea Inc, New Jersey, for matching an equal amount of USD 10,000. CASK is working with Fr Muller Medical College Hospital Management on how to reach out the eye harvesting and transplant action scheme in and around Mangalore region.

Many donors have responded to our annual scholarship programme too. Special thanks to Prof Edmund Frank, Chairman of Sylvester Frank Centenary Foundation, for his contribution of Rs one lakh for this year's scholarship programme.

Our ongoing activities have been covered separately in this issue. I thank all office bearers, editorial team, committee members for shouldering responsibility on a collective basis for making things happen in a seamless manner. It is for you readers to write your views on the CASK slate when we complete one year in office next month.

Let me personally invite you for the 14th August 2015 CASK event, as part of our 2015 Independence Day Celebrations. It will be our pleasure to interact once again after our last programme on 'Issues and concerns of our community' held on 1st May 2015. I also take this opportunity to remind you to mark the Annual General Meeting date of 20th Sept. 2015 in your diary. CASK is your Association and make sure you will be present at 10 AM on 20th Sept. St. Aloysius College Auditorium, next to Idgah Maidan, for the AGM. Once again 69th Independence Day 'SWARAJ' greetings.

Jai Hind.

LET'S WELCOME INDIA'S 69th INDEPENDENCE DAY WITH POSITIVE STROKES

Patsy Lobo

As the 69th Independence Day dawns, the patriotic feelings just stretch to fill us from within. Let us celebrate our 'Unity in Diversity', our Democratic set up, Secularism, Our family values, the beauty and richness of our environment and ecology, the richness of our culture and languages and generous Hospitality as a Nation. Let us also be proud of our Armed Forces who ably guard our borders, our vibrant media, not forgetting our ever famous Bollywood and more. Does your mind buzz with ideas? What keeps this magic going?

Unfortunately, we often forget our positives. A very strange culture of criticism prevails in our country now. Thanks to the screaming TV anchors and shouting participants on TV debates and the regular critical articles in various newspapers and magazines, we seem to be blind to our achievements as a nation over the past 69 years of Independence. We are ready to pounce and denounce on social media. Our critical eye and pen knows no limits.

In his recent address at Oxford, Shashi Tharoor highlighted the damage accrued to India because of 200 years of colonial rule. He said "India was governed for the benefit of Britain" ... yes, but we have come a long way since the British left in August 1947. Let me admit that there are serious fault-lines, deficiencies, disparities and discriminations still existing and that corruption and lack of commitment has reached an all-time low, the gap between the haves and the have-nots is widening and we have the problem of politicians drunken with power, too many masters, too many desperate voices, The miracle – in spite of all these fault-lines and deficiencies, we have made progress and there is visible development.

When we criticise, let us also stay attuned to the good in those we deride.

In conclusion, I wish present the following quotes : “India is a country in which every religion finds a Home” – Dr Annie Besant

“We owe a lot to Indians who taught us how to count, without which no worthwhile scientific discovery could have been made” – Albert Einstein

“Failure comes only when we forget our ideals, objectives and principles” – Jawaharlal Nehru

On 15th August 2015, let us salute and celebrate the greatness of our country.

WHAT PRICE FREEDOM?

Vernica Shearer, Morpeth-UK

At the stroke of midnight on the 14TH August 1947, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru made that soul-stirring speech which is etched in our memory. In the past 68 years India has achieved much. She is no longer thought of as a third world nation. Indian doctors, engineers and scientists, lawyers, writers and politicians have made their mark in the western world. I am proud to be Indian. Freedom has its price and we pay heavily for it. Franklin D Roosevelt said, “True individual freedom cannot exist without economic security and independence. People who are hungry and out of a job are the stuff of which dictatorships are made.” This is why Pope Francis said in his first encyclical ‘The Joy of The Gospel’ that he wants a poor church that is for the poor because they have much to teach us. But what is individual freedom? It is the freedom to be who you really are and to make mistakes and learn from them. Or as Nelson Mandela said, “to be free is not merely to cast off your chains but to live in a way that respects and enhances the freedom of others.”

One of my first jobs in the UK was as Training Manager in a Foyer, which was a place where 60 young, homeless people lived in independent, one bedroom suites. It was my job to train them into becoming employable so that they would find a job and move into their own homes. Unfortunately the young Foyer Manager was an idealist and thought that these young people, who had evidently had a bad start in life should be given the freedom to live together without any rules. In fact they were asked to make their own rules. This caused havoc in this state of the art accommodation which was even better than a hotel. The plush carpets were soon destroyed with cigarette burns and the lift was constantly being broken by the residents – just for fun. Within six months we had nine pregnancies to deal with. Furniture was smashed and curtains torn to shreds – just for fun. This was the price the Foyer paid for the freedom given to the 16 – 25 year olds who had made it their home. On asking them why they had turned into vandals, their answer was simple. “Veronica, we came from homes where we didn’t know who our father was. Our mother allowed us to do what we wanted because she really had no time for us and had no time to discipline us. So we want boundaries. We want tough love to show you care.” What an eye opener this was for the young, naive manager. But it was almost impossible to undo the damage that had already been done.

So sometimes, freedom comes at a heavy price. The state of not being imprisoned or enslaved is a definition of FREEDOM but the young people in the Foyer were free yet enslaved by their addiction to love, the state of being loved, alcohol and finally even drugs. Yet for all purposes they were FREE.

The passing of the Freedom of Information Act in 2000, in UK, which gave anyone the right to access recorded information held by government and other public sector bodies was regarded as one of the landmark achievements of the last Labour government. But since then, former Prime minister Tony Blair described the law as one of his ‘biggest regrets’, since such transparency made it well-nigh impossible for ministers to have a ‘safe space’ to air their views. The media have made hay with the Freedom of Information Act and nothing recorded is a secret anymore. So freedom certainly comes at a price!

We can be enslaved by the desire for wealth, the desire for appreciation and recognition or even by our fear of sickness or death. This addiction reduces our freedom. Man is born free but he soon gets entrapped with worldly yearnings. Once they get a stranglehold on him, he finds it impossible to get out. That is why in John 8: 32 Jesus makes this cryptic remark to his listeners.... ‘The TRUTH will set you free’. The Jews, proudly, claimed to be enslaved by no one. They forgot about the Egyptians, the Assyrians, the Babylonians, the Hellenists, and the Romans. But Jesus wasn’t worried about empire and conquest and political freedom. He was concerned with freedom from sin. ‘Love thy neighbour was Jesus’ greatest commandment so if one doesn’t follow Pope Francis’ entreaty to work for the poor and downtrodden, we are allowing ourselves to be enslaved by the world and its temptations from a greed for power to a greed for pandering to the self. Once we remove the obstacles that keep us from loving our neighbour, we are truly free. But it is a huge price to pay. Not in terms of wealth but in terms of stamping out love of self. As ThichNhatHanh says in Anger:

Wisdom for Cooling the Flames, ‘Freedom is the basic condition for you to touch life, to touch the blue sky, the trees,, the birds, the tea, and the other person’.

‘What will people say?’ was the never-ending chorus in my mind when I lived in India. What society thought of us was far more important than our own instincts and desire to do good. If I was seen working for the prostitute, the orphan and the beggar, I may not have been accepted by those in power and position. I may be shunned by my friends in high places if I am seen with the destitute and with the marginalised. These ugly thoughts cramped my style and I felt suffocated having to please the rich and famous. But I broke the bonds that tied me and moved to pastures new. Here in the UK, I am free to work for the refugee, the outcast, the prisoner and the pauper. This is what set me free. This was almost 25 years ago. I pray that things have changed in my homeland and reading The Mangalore gives me hope that attitudes have changed indeed.

I can’t help quoting our Nobel Laureate, Rabindranath Tagore’s poem...

Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high Where knowledge is free

*Where the world has not been broken up into fragments
By narrow domestic walls*

Where words come out from the depth of truth

Where tireless striving stretches its arms towards perfection

Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way

Into the dreary desert sand of dead habit

Where the mind is led forward by thee

Into ever-widening thought and action

Into that heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake.

It would be fair to conclude with the words of Mahatma Gandhi who fought and died to give India her freedom. “Freedom is not worth having if it does not include the freedom to make mistakes.” We will all make mistakes on the journey but as long as we pick ourselves up and get back on the path of truth, we will truly be free and the price we pay will never hurt us! Jai Hind!

IRENE

By her children Denis Mathias, Margaret DeMello Kamath and Sheela Sawhney

Our mother was born in 1919. It was the end of the First World War. She was named Irene, derived from the Greek word peace, to celebrate the end of that conflict. Lyndon Johnson said “Peace is a journey of a thousand miles and it must be taken one step at a time.” In her journey of nearly a hundred years, she brought peace and joy to everything she has touched.

Mummy was born and raised at the iconic ‘Oorgaum House’ in Bangalore. She developed an early love for reading at the Sacred Heart Convent and carried this passion with her for the rest of her life. We have fond memories of her curled up in her favourite sofa at Kelagur immersed in a book. After High School she got her Bachelor of Arts and Teaching in Mysore. Daddy was always proud of her “double degree” which was rare in those days.

Granny Rose was one of the original “outsourcers” in Bangalore. She outsourced parenting of the younger children to the older ones. The younger brothers were assigned to Irene. She taught them the value of deep religious faith, a love of learning and discipline. She was a highly disciplined person herself. She loved sweets but gave them up for Lent. Her mother used to hand out one sweet to each child after dinner. Irene hid hers. Her brothers spent most of Lent looking for her sweets. They had to find them before Easter Sunday because on that day she hid in the bathroom and ate them all.

In 1942, she married Eddie and moved to Kelagur. She was the perfect wife and gave Daddy constant and loving support in everything he did. They worked as a wonderful team together and it is hard to imagine him succeeding in life without her.

We were privileged to have had an extraordinary mother. Agatha Christie said “a mother’s love for her child is like nothing else in the world. It knows no law, no pity, it dares all things and crushes down remorselessly all that stands in its path.” We were lucky to have her clear the path for us. She was also the perfect grandmother. Her grandchildren have often travelled long distances just to spend a little time with her.

This motherly love and consideration extended to her virtual family. It included Peter and Lorna and their children after they moved to Kelagur, her many D’Souza and Mathias relatives and all the families that lived on the Estate.

1992 was a tragic year for Mummy as she lost her beloved Eddie after nearly 50 years of marriage. At first she was at a loss as there was so much he did for her. She had never written a cheque or reconciled a bank statement. But she was quickly back on her feet and started a new phase of her life as the Grand Lady of 1 Walton Road. She travelled the world as long as she could and then settled down to a quiet life in Bangalore. As she glided into her 90’s she insisted on running her own home and was alert enough to complain about the cost of onions when Denis called her from California! Of course to do this she received unseen help from Sheela and Nicky in the background and support from her many loving relatives and friends.

On July 1, 2015 Irene passed away peacefully at 1, Walton Road. Throughout her life her faith in God was an important part of who she was. Her last words were “Jesus I trust in you”.

Her ninety six years represented a life of consequence. It was a life focused on duty and responsibility. Her victory in life was that she did everything she could to be the best possible wife, mother and grand, great-grand and God mother, aunt, sibling and friend. . . .never expecting anything in return. She lived up to the promise of her name Irene, because she brought peace to everything she touched. Her passing was the end of an era and a major milestone in the journey of the Kelagur Mathias and D’Souza families.

CASK EYE-CAMP AT CHIKMAGALUR

John Monteiro

If an impression is afloat that only the poor and marginalised patronise free eye camps, perish the thought. I tried to strike a conversation with a well-dressed couple with impressive stage presence thinking that they may be local volunteers at the camp. Y. C. Nanjegowda and his wife H M Kasturi are prominent citizens of Chikmagaluru. He retired as head-postmaster of the district after 40 years of service, mostly in rural areas. That is where he received help from Christian institutions, specially convents, in educating his three daughters. His first two daughters are MTech.. now married and settled in USA. The third daughter, who escorted her parents to the eye camp, is an advocate, now married and settled in Chikmagaluru.

Nanjegowda is waiting for his cataract to mature to operating stage and his wife has dry eyes (no tears!). A camp is an incentive to bring to the fore problems which we normally put on the backbencher – hoping that it will vanish. He was very effusive and kept stressing that the convents and Christian community helped him throughout his nomadic rural stints of duty.

An eye camp like the one organised by CASK is like mountain coming to Mohamed. Normally if one has dim eye sight, can't read or the distant object is a blur, one should be going to a doctor, clinic or hospital. But, poor, illiterate people are not confident to take such steps. The CASK-type eye camps are a stimulus for them to submit themselves to be tested and diagnosed by a team from reputed entities.

Coming back to the camp patients, 44-year-old Gohar finds it difficult to read the Koran which she does for one hour a day. She came after reading leaflets about the camp given at her masjid. Her husband is a helper in a lorry. They have three children, two daughters married and a son.

54-year-old Asif is a daily-wager waiting to be prescribed and provided free spectacles and get over his dim sight which makes it difficult for him to use his mobile.

Abdul Gafoor, 70 years, is not new to spectacles, having his eye-sight tested at Manipal. A cooly, he has no TV in the house; but enhanced spectacle-aided eyesight will help him to read the Koran. He has been coming to the hospital bringing poor neighbours for treatment.

There are others like 66-year-old Gangamma and Jayamma, 65 years, who had come from 25KM away after hearing about the camp from others. Jayamma is involved in cultivating vegetables and is not new to the hospital as she has visited it for other ailments.

All of the 249 must have had their interesting story to tell and above all hope for better eye-sight-138 of them were prescribed free spectacles and 26 referred for free surgery.

OUR COUNTRY!

By Dr Sheetal Savur

It's not ours, this land this sky,
It's a gift received to be passed on to tomorrow's child.

I belong here, says every drop of my blood,
With our love this country we'll flood.

Varied in cultures and gastronomical treats,
Separate in our ways, yet together we feast!

A nation famous for its Sculptors, scriptures and sages,
Rivers, plains and mountain ranges!

We live today sans gratitude, sans sensitivity,
In our patriotism too there's a huge cavity!

We consumed without guilt endlessly,
Exploited the gifts you gave selflessly!

Wake up brethren before it's too late,
Take up the responsibility else cursed will be your fate!

Take that first step and make it happen,
Work hard to be the pride of this esteemed nation!!

BANGALORE COMMUNITY COLLEGE A DECADE OF SERVICE TO YOUTH

Avis Deans, Bangalore

In May 2015, a milestone in the history of Bangalore Community College was celebrated - 10 years of dedicated service to the education of young disadvantaged youth in the city of Bangalore - a journey of learning, discovery, fulfilment and empowerment. Let us retrace our steps to the beginning of this memorable journey.

Origin and Mission: It began in June 2005, when Fr Sagayanathan, Parish Priest of Sacred Heart Church-Bangalore, had a dream-to reach out to many struggling young school dropouts and unemployed youth and provide them opportunities and skills required to enter the mainstream of society. “To include the excluded” is a need-based College Motto based on the mission of the Community College movement in India pioneered by Fr. Xavier Alphonse S.J, former Principal of Loyola College-Chennai and Director-Indian Centre for Research and Development of Community Education. Fr Alphonse was moved by the plight of the underserved youth and was sent to USA by the Jesuits to study the Community College system there. He studied it and adapted the system to suit our country. In a short span of 15 years, about 350 Colleges have been established throughout India. This is the need of the times, since we are a developing country with 60% of young people being underprivileged.

Fr.Sagayanathan started Bangalore Community College, under the Archdiocese Board of Education, on the Sacred Heart Church campus. To take up and steer this unique venture, he selected an exceptionally qualified and committed couple-Prof Albert Selvanayagam, a retired Zoology Professor of St Joseph’s College-Bangalore, with >40 years’ experience as a facilitator of learning, in a variety of areas and his wife Rosalind, an experienced Personal and Marriage Counsellor. Together they embarked on this worthy mission. The Selvanayagam couple, along with Fr Sagayanathan are the Founders of the Bangalore Community College, with Fr. Sagayanathan functioning as the Director.

The first batch of 100 students were admitted in June 2005, with one classroom, an office room and a room for Computer Lab in the main school building.

Course Content : The curriculum consists of a 10-month course comprising Functional English, Basic Computer skills with Tally, Life coping skills and Work skills for the posts like Office Assistant or jobs in Food/Beverage and Retail. These skills equip students to enter the workforce and also mould their personality and value system in order to face life's challenges. "Fit for life and Fit for Job" is the motto and driving force and 10-years down the line, it has fully achieved its purpose. Students are charged a nominal fee since no Government grants are received. Once the students complete the course, they are placed in jobs.

To date, around 650 students have passed out of its portals - confident, self assured and ready to take on the working world. Thanks to the celebration of important festivals and events, their talents in music, dance, acting etc are fully exploited and resulted in enhancement of their leadership skills, team work and self-confidence. A weekly program in Yoga has helped to instill discipline, serenity and resilience and in promoting physical and mental wellbeing. Sessions on Character development and interpersonal skills are taken by a variety of professionals, which has helped in the holistic development of the students.

Participation in Inter-Community College competitions in dance, music, public speaking and Mad-Ads has fostered a spirit of healthy competition, team work and co-operation.

Partnerships : Over the years, thanks to the professional acumen of Albert and Rosalind, Industrial Partnerships have been set up with Reliance Group, Presidency College of Hotel Management and Institute of Hotel Management that ensure on-the-job training, which helps in gainful post-graduation employment. Students have been placed in leading retail stores, Cafe Coffee day outlets, IT Companies and other enterprises that give them a start in life and enable them to support their family. Gradually with experience and hard work they climb the ladder of success and today many hold managerial positions. Several are even successful entrepreneurs. They continue their relationship with the college and return to share their success stories. Some seek guidance and counsel from Principal Rosalind, whose motherly care and concern is greatly valued. Our past students have become our ambassadors. They are eager to lend a helping hand to new students who pass out, thus living out the college ethos to serve and help uplift the other.

Success Stories: Herick Vinod-Proprietor, GH CADD, Bertinad P, Concept Manager-Home Centre, Lifestyle, Edwin Paul-Proprietor KidsZone, Moses, a chef in a Cruise ship, Rakesh who after some time with the ITC group is in the USA with Cruise Carnival, Saritha, a teacher for handicapped children in a Government school and Jennifer Lourdu, Customer Support Rep-Qikwell Technologies Ltd, are only a few of the many students who lead happy fulfilling lives, thanks to the training and support they received in the College. Today May 2015, the seed sown with diligence by the pioneering team of Fr Sagayanathan, Albert, Rosalind and a team of committed teachers, nurtured with love and care through the years, has helped to enrich the lives of many families in Bangalore.

Happiness is a journey, not a destination.

Work like you don't need money,

Love like you've never been hurt,

And dance like no one's watching.

God has given each of us a "gift" that we are to use to glorify His name! Do you know yours???

“REKINDLING RELATIONSHIPS”WORKSHOP - A TIME TO RECONNECT

With the noble objective of helping participants to understand their loved ones and strengthening family ties, “Rekindling Relationships” workshop was organised on the 18th of July at Hotel Saffron, Mangalore. This workshop was facilitated by Valerian Sequeira who is a leadership facilitator and counsellor. The workshop was attended by people from all walks of life.

At the onset, Valerian drew on the metaphor of the dance floor and the balcony. He said that most of our time is spent on the dance floor of our life, doing things. The objective of this workshop is to get on to the balcony, look down at our life and appreciate the people who are close to us.

The group was then initiated into the Enneagram, an age old personality profiling tool. This tool offers profound insights into the nine different ways in which people feel, think, behave and show love. Through experiential activities, participants were helped to understand themselves and their loved ones.

Jagadhish, a software engineer, who attended the workshop with his wife said, “Sometimes, we become judgemental based on the behaviour of our near ones, and forget to see the goodness that they bring to the relationship. This workshop has not only helped me understand others but also taught me ways to support them in their journey.” Amidst our busy life, taking a break from the daily chores and attending such workshops would be helpful in rekindling the fire within our intimate relationships.
